1. Informational nature of the Service

Tunerra provides informational tools for vehicle customization, parts discovery, image visualization, and approximate planning. It does not provide legal advice, engineering certification, emissions certification, road-approval decisions, inspection clearance, insurance advice, or manufacturer-authorized fitment approval.

2. Modification risk

Any vehicle modification can create safety, mechanical, electrical, emissions, warranty, financing, registration, inspection, insurance, noise, and road-traffic risks. Even cosmetic changes can affect sensors, visibility, lighting compliance, pedestrian-safety systems, and resale value.

3. Local law varies

Road-legality, emissions, noise, tint, lighting, bodywork, wheel fitment, suspension, engine tuning, exhaust changes, plate placement, and track-only equipment rules vary by country, region, state, province, municipality, insurer, lender, and inspection authority. A product that is lawful in one place may be restricted or prohibited in another.

4. Off-road and track-use parts

Some products shown, suggested, or linked through the Service may be marketed for off-road, racing, show, or track use only. Those products may be illegal or unsuitable for public-road use, may fail inspection, and may void warranties or insurance coverage.

5. No guarantee of compatibility or legality

TUNERRA does not guarantee that any suggested part, installer, configuration, seller listing, fitment description, search result, AI image, or pricing estimate is compatible with your exact vehicle or lawful where you use the vehicle. Visual AI outputs may depict configurations that are not physically practical, road legal, insurable, or available to purchase.

6. Your obligations before purchase or installation

You must independently verify at least the following before buying, installing, or using any modification:

- Exact vehicle compatibility, including trim, generation, engine, drivetrain, model year, region, and hardware dependencies.
- Compliance with local road, emissions, inspection, registration, and consumer-product rules.
- Whether installation requires professional fitting, alignment, coding, recalibration, inspection, or certification.
- Whether the modification affects manufacturer warranty, lease terms, financing terms, roadside assistance, or insurance coverage.
- Whether the modification is safe for your intended use and driving environment.

7. Professional advice recommended

You should consult qualified mechanics, tuners, installers, body shops, engineers, insurers, and legal or regulatory advisers before acting on recommendations. Do not rely solely on the Service for safety-critical, compliance-critical, or warranty-critical decisions.

8. Assumption of risk

You assume all risk arising from your purchase, installation, use, storage, transport, display, or operation of modified vehicles and modified parts. TUNERRA is not responsible for regulatory penalties, inspection failure, mechanical failure, denied warranty claims, denied insurance claims, injury, or property damage resulting from modifications or reliance on Service outputs.
